Celebrating Twenty-Five Years

Without a Heart, it's just a machine.

So in 1971, a little Heart built a different kind of airline—one that made sure everyone could fly.

Everyone has important places to go. So we invented low-fares to help them get there.

To us, you're not 1A or 17B. You're a person with a name, like Steve.

Here, we think everyone deserves to feel special, no matter where you sit or how much you fly.

And with all the places we're going next, we'll always put you first, because our love of People is still our most powerful fuel.

Some say we do things differently.

We say, why would we do things any other way?

Without a Heart, it's just a machine.

Southwest Airlines® is proud to sponsor the Arizona Foundation for Women. Congratulations to the 2020 award recipients.

ARIZONA FOUNDATION FOR WOMEN

VISION

We envision an Arizona where women are safe, healthy and economically independent.

MISSION

Advancing the status of Arizona's women through research, advocacy and philanthropy to ensure their safety, health and economic independence.

*We focus on three ways to make sure SHE Counts!®
We conduct research, advocacy and funding in order to advance the Safety, Health and Economic empowerment of women.*

For 25 years, Arizona Foundation for Women has been a voice for women's issues including domestic violence, sex trafficking, housing, healthcare and equal pay. Over its lifetime, AFW has helped thousands of women break the cycle of poverty, eliminate abuse in their lives and gain economic self-sufficiency.

Through a holistic strategy of grants, research and advocacy, we leverage our brand, reputation, relationships and collaborative spirit to have a positive impact on the lives of women in Arizona.

Arizona Foundation for Women is a proud supporting organization of Arizona Community Foundation.

Message From Our Founder

Dear Guests,

Twenty five years ago, domestic violence was not yet a household word but, rather, a "family secret." Fast forward to today and this secret has been let out of the bottle. Legal progress has been made. While the issue continues, the public has become aware. Domestic and partner violence now include criminal consequences.

While the founding group of AFW fought for the rights of women to be safe and seen, we are once again raising our collective voices. Women and children are now facing another silent killer: the trafficking of human beings. Fueled by pornography, mainly targeting at risk young women and, sadly, children, human trafficking has reached the same epidemic proportions. While not as newsworthy as the coronavirus, it is spreading just as quickly and affecting those whose voices, as with domestic violence, are neither heard nor their faces seen.

It is an honor to be part of the efforts of the Arizona Foundation for Women over the past 25 years to fight horrific forms of violence against women and children. We began with the premise that women and children have the right to be safe, secure and treasured and we continue as defenders of women and children. Women and children plant the seeds we so badly need for a common humanity in a toxic society.

We cannot be silent when we see: humans in cages, beaten, starved and raped; children deprived of the innocence of youth. These victims, of trauma and abuse, have an even higher wall to climb. With our help and hope, they, like Humpty Dumpty, won't have to be put back together again.

Your support for AFW gives us the decibel level we need to be heard, seen and successful in fighting for the human rights of those who hold up Half the Sky!! Our speaking out will allow other woman to speak until laws are changed and lives are saved. Only silence is more frightening than speaking the truth.

Thank you for your support and shared dedication to turning cries of pain into cries of joy and inclusion. We are AFW strong.and SHE Counts!®

MARILYN SEYMANN

Message from the CEO

Dear Friends,

Celebrating 25 years of service for the betterment of women in Arizona is an amazing feat. Even in 2020, we are still fighting for the equality of women, their safety, their health and their financial well-being. So, imagine 25 years ago, the courage our founder Marilyn R. Seymann had to take a stand for women in Arizona. Her tenacious fight to bring women's issues to the forefront included encouraging everyone to not only understand what it means when we at Arizona Foundation for Women (AFW) say, "SHE Counts!®" but to also put those words into action.

We take this day to celebrate the long battles on legislative issues that bring justice to women in our state. From protecting rights, fighting for equal pay, ensuring child support and providing entrepreneurial business loans, to affordable healthcare for mothers and children, AFW has and will continue to push for more. AFW is proud to conduct intensive research to expose areas that hinder a woman's potential to, in turn, support the amazing local nonprofits and highlight the unbelievable strength their staff and volunteers conjure up to provide critical—sometimes heartbreaking—services and programs to women, no matter their social/economic status, position or situation.

Thank you for joining and celebrating with us as we commemorate our silver anniversary! Your support today helps amplify every woman's safety, health and financial needs so she can break free from the challenges, fear and bias that confine her.

As you leave here today, remember when a women's power and potential are respected, our children and families are healthier, our economies are stronger, and our communities prosper.

SANDRA DAY O'CONNOR LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Gretchen Carlson

Journalist, author, and empowerment advocate Gretchen Carlson paved the way for the #MeToo movement, with her historic 2016 sexual harassment complaint against the chairman of Fox News, Roger Ailes. Named one of Time Magazine's "100 Most Influential People in the World," Carlson is one of America's most successful news anchors, as well as a globally recognized advocate for female empowerment, with her TED Talk on the subject garnering almost 2 million views. She is also the celebrated author of the New York Times bestseller "Be Fierce."

In December 2019, Carlson founded the organization "Lift Our Voices" with former Fox News colleagues Julie Roginsky and Diana Falzone. Its mission is to end the practice of Non-Disclosure Agreements, confidentiality provisions and forced arbitration clauses that have prevented employees from publicly discussing and disclosing toxic workplace conditions, including sexual harassment and assault.

Carlson previously hosted "The Real Story" on Fox News and co-hosted the number-one rated cable morning news show, "Fox and Friends," for more than seven years.

Carlson's most recent return to television, as host and executive producer of A+E and Lifetime Network documentaries "Breaking The Silence," "Beyond The Headlines: NXIVM Cult" and "Beyond The Headlines: The College Admissions Scandal." Her return is a beacon of hope for other brave women demoted, fired or blacklisted from their chosen careers after reporting sexual harassment.

Carlson started her television career as a political reporter in Richmond, Virginia, and then served as an anchor and reporter in Cincinnati, Cleveland, and Dallas. In 2000 Carlson moved to national news as co-host and correspondent on CBS'

Gretchen Carlson

"The Saturday Early Show," where she covered some of the world's biggest stories, including the 9-11 terrorist attack from the World Trade Center, the Bush-Gore election, and Oklahoma City Bomber Tim McVeigh's execution. She also reported and produced a 30-part series on domestic violence that won several national awards.

In 2016, Carlson became the face of workplace harassment survivors, gracing the covers of Time and Good Housekeeping magazines. Carlson's book "Be Fierce" debuted in October 2017 and immediately a New York Times bestseller. Her memoir "Getting Real," published in 2015 was also a best-seller. Profits from "Be Fierce" go to Carlson's Gift of Courage Fund, which supports organizations empowering women and young girls. This year the fund is providing free workshops to low-income women facing gender-based discrimination and violence through the Gretchen Carlson Leadership Initiative and supporting the March of Dimes' Gretchen Carlson Advocacy Fellows.

Since her harassment complaint became public, Carlson has worked fearlessly to change laws that protect predators. In December 2017, she joined a bi-partisan coalition of legislators to introduce the "Ending Forced Arbitration of Sexual Harassment Act," which voids forced arbitration agreements that prevent sexual harassment survivors from getting their day in court. The bill was reintroduced in the House in February 2019 and Carlson testified before the House Judiciary Committee in May.

Carlson's advocacy has been honored by numerous organizations, including the New York Women in Communications' Matrix Award; the Radio Television Digital News Association's First Amendment Leadership Award; the National Organization for Women's 2018 Women of Power and Influence Award; and the YWCA Greater Los Angeles' 2018 Phenomenal Champion of Change.

An honors graduate of Stanford University, Carlson was valedictorian of her high school class and studied at Oxford University in England. A violin prodigy, she performed as a soloist with the Minnesota Orchestra at age 13, and in 1989 became the first classical violinist to win the Miss America crown.

Carlson is married to sports agent Casey Close. The couple lives in Greenwich with their two teenage children.

Christi Paul

You will find Christi Paul every weekend morning anchoring CNN New Day as well as anchoring and reporting for HLN during the week.

Christi is a wife and mother of three daughters and as such, has a passion for helping children and teens. She serves on the National Advisory Council for the One Love Foundation in honor of Yeadley Love, the University of Virginia Lacrosse player beaten to death by her boyfriend, and is also involved with Girl Talk Inc., an organization where high school girls mentor middle school girls to help build self esteem and combat bullying.

Tired of simply having to tell viewers news stories about children who are missing, Christi took action to help, founding “Find Our Children,” a partnership with The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in Washington, DC. HLN featured a segment about a missing child, asking viewers to help find them and to date, 35 of the profiled children have been brought home safe and sound. In 2012 NCMEC honored Christi with their prestigious Hope Award, an award she shares with past winners such as former Secretary of State Colin Powell, then-Senator Joe Biden and actor Ben Affleck.

Christi is also an author. Published in 2012, her book “Love Isn’t Supposed to Hurt”, discusses her journey in overcoming verbal and emotional abuse. It immediately hit Amazon’s top 20 and she recorded two songs in Nashville that coincide with the book - “Wake Up In It” and “Free” can both be found on iTunes. Christi is no stranger to singing as she’s sung onstage with Grammy winners Richard Marx and David Foster as well as singing the National Anthem at professional sporting events.

Prior to joining HLN in 2003, Christi was an anchor, consumer reporter and weathercaster in Phoenix. First at KNXV, then at CNN affiliate KTVK where she created a segment with the Arizona Humane Society which helped hundreds of abandoned animals find new homes with families in the valley.

Barbara L. Strachan

Barbara Strachan has been building inclusive programs for Girl Scouts from all walks of life for more than 20 years. She serves as Director of Social Impact Programs for Girl Scouts–Arizona Cactus-Pine Council which delivers various programs in jails, prisons, detention centers, group homes, homeless and domestic violence shelters, Title I schools, community centers, refugee and Native American communities. She was instrumental in co-creating the Adelante Jovencitas (Young Women Moving Forward) program which received the FBI Directors Community Leadership Award.

To deliver these site-specific programs, Strachan developed partnerships with organizations in the justice system, educational arena and others. In addition, she forged a partnership with several Arizona State University colleges to provide internship opportunities for students, giving them real world, hands on experience. Each intern receives personal coaching, mentoring and networking opportunities directly from her.

Strachan has been involved in the anti-human trafficking movement in Arizona for over 20 years. She is a member of the City of Phoenix Human Trafficking Task Force, serves on the board of the Arizona Anti-Trafficking Network and the advisory committee for Starfish Place, a supportive housing option for women who have been trafficked, and their children. This issue holds particular importance for her, and she generously gives her time in the areas of advocacy, education and outreach when asked.

She holds a Bachelor of Arts in Social and Behavioral Science and a Master’s in Education from Northern Arizona University, graduating with Distinction. Strachan has attended numerous leadership development programs like Oxford Leadership Academy, The Ashland Institute, Blanchard Self-Leadership, and Valley Leadership - Class 30. She is currently working on her dissertation for a doctorate degree in organizational leadership.

Strachan believes in the potential of every woman and girl to become strong, courageous leaders who can make a positive difference in their own lives and in the world.
